

PRESS RELEASE

AUGUST 2023

DANNY WILLETT, THE 2015 CHAMPION, AS WELL AS THE PROMISING AMERICAN JUSTIN SUH WILL BE TAKING PART IN THE OMEGA EUROPEAN MASTERS 2023

The list of announced players expands with the appearance of Danny Willett from Britain and the young Justin Suh, both highly motivated to put on the red jacket of the 2023 winner.

Danny Willett, whose greatest victory was undoubtedly at the Augusta Masters in 2016, will be taking part in the Omega European Masters for the thirteenth time. Willett's list of honors includes seven wins on the European Tour, a Grand Slam title and, most recently, a second-place finish on the PGA Tour at the Fortinet Championship in Napa, California. He has also been rewarded for his consistency by finishing second in the final rankings of the Race to Dubai in 2015 and 2016. The 35-year-old will undoubtedly be a tough opponent to deal with at the tournament in Crans-Montana.

Californian Justin Suh plays mainly in the USA, but he was number one in the world amateur golf rankings between October 2018 and April 2019. Thanks to his first place on the 2022 Korn Ferry Tour, he earned his card for the PGA Tour, where he already has three top 10 finishes to his name. The 26-year-old still needs to gain experience but will undoubtedly be motivated to fight for overall victory.

With Thriston Lawrence, Miguel Ángel Jiménez, Rasmus Højgaard and Matthew Fitzpatrick, who already confirmed their participation, the 76th edition of the Omega European Masters promises to be very exciting from 31st August to 3rd September in Crans-Montana.
