JULY 2023

2021 WINNER RASMUS HØJGAARD CONFIRMS HIS PARTICIPATION

The young Danish prodigy Rasmus Højgaard, who won the Omega European Masters in 2021, will be present at the 76th edition of the prestigious Valais tournament.

At the age of 22, Rasmus Højgaard is continuing to progress. Revealed at a very young age when he won the AfrAsia Bank Mauritius Open at the age of 18, becoming the third youngest winner on the European Tour in the process, the Dane celebrated his fourth title on the DP World Tour two weeks ago with a victory on home soil at the 'Made in HimmerLand' tournament in Denmark. With a prize money of €507,458, it was undoubtedly his most important win to date.

This triumph also repositioned him in the European rankings, where he now sits in 14th place, meaning a potential selection for the Ryder Cup to be held in Rome next September.

Rasmus Højgaard will be playing in the Omega European Masters for the third time. He appreciates the course not only for its outstanding landscapes, but also for the many options that make it particularly attractive to play. After a less-than-successful edition last year, when he was forced to withdraw in the final round, the 2021 winner is certainly hungry for revenge. His current shape suggests that he holds all cards to challenge for victory again this year.
